Ensley Church of the Nazarene

Christmas Offering Investments

Have you ever turned into the church parking lot going a little too fast, and felt like you were reenacting a scene where Bo and Luke Duke launched the General Lee into the air trying to get away from Sheriff Rosco P. Coltrane in an episode of the old Dukes of Hazard TV show??? If you have, you're not alone! Getting into the parking lot without needing work done on your vehicle or a chiropractic adjustment to your back isn't just a challenge; it's not exactly the warm welcome we want folks to experience. That's why we would love to invest a portion of what's given in this year's Christmas Offering into smoothing our parking lot entry a bit.

A second way that we're hopeful to invest a portion of this year's Christmas Offering is in purchasing a new lawn mower to assist with property upkeep and maintaining a continued outdoor atmosphere that is beautiful, inviting and well kept. While the property we own is a wonderful blessing, caring for it requires a significant investment.

We save thousands of dollars each year thanks to a faithful volunteer who mows and maintains our equipment. However, our current machine is aging quickly and needs to be replaced with a mower that's better suited for the demands of a multi-acre property.

A third way that we're hopeful to invest gifts given in this year's Christmas Offering, is in refreshing the ECNaz Church Office. Investments have already been made toward updating the office, but the project needs to be further funded and completed. It serves as the primary workspace for all clerical and communications work as well as the central hub for our staff to meet, collaborate and plan together. Additional lighting, wall repairs, painting, and new flooring will give the room the same feel as our other newly undated spaces around the church.

Lastly, one other investment we'll make with this year's Christmas Offering is in continuing our partnership with LPE. Since beginning the Christmas Offering 6 years ago, we have faithfully tithed 10% of what's been given by sharing it with others, and that's not a practice we have any interest in moving away from!

TOTAL GOAL — $12,500
